A GHASTLY "FIND."

The Coroner and Sheriff
Unearthed It Today.

A GRAND JURY "STORY."

Report That a Local Physician
Had Exhumed and Dissected
a Bawd's Body.

UGLY RUMOR CIRCULATED

Investigation Today, However, Shows
That There Was No Foundation For It.

The Pettis county grand jury has been investigating a case for a couple of days past that would have proved exceedingly sensational had rumors that were in circulation on the street been corroborated; but for the sake of the accused party in the case the DEMOCRAT is glad to chronicle the fact today that there is no truth whatever in the ugly reports.

The story was that a young physician of the city, who comes of an excellent family, had exhumed the remains of Gertie Delaney, a Main street bawd who died two months ago of congestion of the stomach, and dissected the body, after which it was reinterred.

A member of the police force overheard two men conversing a short time ago, and the subject under discussion interested him.

He "pinched" the individual who had made the startling revelations, and the fellow confessed that he had figured in a case of body-snatching.

By degrees the story was "wormed" out of him, to this effect: He and five other men had been hired by a certain physician of this city to exhume the body of the Delaney woman, who was believed by some to have committed suicide by poisoning, and convey it to the office of the doctor in question, where it was to be dissected.

The job was performed, the "squeler" said, and after the dissection of the body it was again buried. The officer had every reason to believe that the truth had been told him, so he imparted the information gleaned to the chief of police, who in turn apprised the county attorney of the case.

The result was that during the present week the chief of police and policeman in question were subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury and it is safe to say that they laid their "information" before that body, although the DEMOCRAT has no positive information that such was the case.

At any rate, the suspected physician also appeared before the grand jury Thursday, and the supposition is that he denied the entire story, as he was warranted in doing, in the face of today's developments.

Be that as it may, this morning Coroner Muehl and Sheriff Porter were instructed by Judge Ryland to disinter the remains of the Delaney woman and report to the court as to whether the body had been dissected.

Securing the services of R. W. Welch, the undertaker, and two grave diggers, the body was exhumed during the forenoon, when the discovery was made that the corpse had not been molested in the slightest particular; that there was, in reality, no foundation for the ugly story that was related to the policemen, and which has resulted in a mountain being made out of even less than a mole hill.

The sight is said to have been a ghastly one. The body was badly decomposed, but there was no stench whatever.

Undertaker Welch officiated as funeral director at the burial, and both he and Coroner Muehl identified the remains beyond any possibility of doubt, so if any body was exhumed and dissected by any person it was other than Gertie Delaney's.

What the object of any one originating such a story was cannot be imagined, unless it was a desire to "put up a job" on the police, and if this was the intention it certainly succeeded.

The Ending.

The ending of the successful series of gospel meetings which have been conducted evenings by the Young Men's Christian association during the past week, will be a grand rally to hear State Secretary Williams' confidential address to young men next Sunday afternoon precisely at 3 o'clock.

There will be special singing. A male chorus will lead the rousing songs, aided by cornet and violin. Those desiring seats should come early. All classes and creeds of men will be welcomed at this last meeting which ends the week of prayer services.

ECKEL'S REPORT.

He Will Recommend That National Bank Currency Supplant All Other.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 17.—Mr. Eckels, the comptroller of currency, is hard at work on his report, and expects to have it finished by the end of the week, probably. It is understood he will make several recommendations for changes in the banking law. It is expected, among other things, he will recommend a system by which the national bank currency may take the place of all others, the purpose being to allow the national banks to deposit in addition to bonds gold and silver and treasury notes and certificates and to issue bank notes to the par value of all deposits in the treasury.

The Witcher Murder Case.

The Witcher murder case is being argued in the Pettis county criminal court this afternoon and will be given to the jury some time this evening. The jury was instructed as to murder in the first and second degrees and manslaughter in the third and fourth degrees, the punishment ranging from the death penalty to a fine of $100 or three months' imprisonment in jail.

Had His Watch Stolen.

A passenger on Missouri Pacific passenger train No. 3, that arrived here at 3:15 o'clock this morning from St. Louis, reported to the officers that his watch was stolen by some unknown party during the ten minutes that the train stood at the depot.

Will Be Buried Here.

Capt. T. C. Holland today received a telegram stating that the remains of his nephew, Chas. W. Goodman, who died in Bedford City, Va., on the 15th, will be sent here to be interred beside his mother. The hour for the funeral has not yet been determined upon, but notice will be given in Sunday's paper.

A New Time Card.

A new time card goes into effect on the Missouri Pacific Sunday, the 19th, when the second sections of Nos. 3 and 4 will be taken off. There will, however, be a second No. 3 west on Sunday morning, and a second No. 4 leaving Kansas City Sunday night.

The Sale Is Off.

The Minter block was thought to be sold yesterday, as a price was agreed upon, together with terms, etc., but it fell through because J. E. Hall, the owner, refused to pay the commission demanded by Hutton & Shobe, who had made the deal.

May Open at Noon.

John Kaiser hopes to have his Second Street restaurant in readiness for serving dinner tomorrow. He will have one of the handsomest places in the city, and that he will do a good business is assured.

An Overcoat Stolen.

An unknown white man stole a $20 overcoat in front of C. E. Messerly's place of business this afternoon. The police are hot on his trail and expect to capture him.

The Vice President Here.

T. C. Purdy, vice president of the M., K. & T., passed through the city last night, on his way from Texas to St. Louis.

At The Poor Farm.

The grand jury is visiting the poor farm today, preparatory to winding up its labors.

KNOCKED THEM OUT.

NO RECEIVER FOR THE NARROW GAUGE ROAD.

NOT AT PRESENT, ANYHOW.

An Important Order Made by the State Supreme Court—What Will Be the Next Step?

There was an important step taken by the state supreme court today in the matter of a receiver for the Sedalia, Warsaw and Southwestern narrow gauge road, as will be seen by the following telegram received by Judge W. S. Shirk, attorney for the Missouri Pacific, this forenoon.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 17. W. S. SHIRK, Sedalia, Mo.—Appeal allowed, with supercedeas. I will be up to Sedalia with the order this afternoon. H. S. PRIEST.

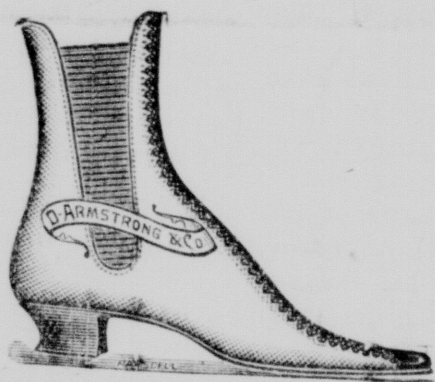

Mr. Priest is general attorney for the Missouri Pacific, and reached Sedalia on train No. 1 this afternoon, highly elated at the action of the supreme court.

J. C. Thompson, who was named by Judge Richard Field as receiver for the property, was seen at the noon hour, but was averse to discussing the matter.

He had heard of the order of the supreme court, he admitted, but beyond that he knew nothing. It appeared that the entire matter was in the hands of the lawyers, he added, and the reporter was referred to them for information on the subject.

Judge Shirk was all smiles when seen at Sicher's at the noon hour. The order was no surprise to him, he stated, for he had anticipated it.

SOMETHING NEW LADIES' CONGRESS BOOTS!

Wm. Courtney's

"The granting of a supercedeas," said Judge Shirk, "means that the order of the supreme court supercedes the order of Judge Field, pending a decision by the supreme court on the appeal to that body from the lower body."

"Of course I have no idea what action the other side will take. A motion to set aside the appeal might be filed, and the case would come before the entire court possibly within the next three months."

"If this is not done, however, it will probably be ten months or a year before a decision is reached in the matter of the appeal, and in the meantime the Missouri Pacific will continue to manage the property."

The new time cards just issued by the Missouri Pacific, and which go into effect tomorrow, present the name of the S., W. & S. as one of the company's lines, and Judge Shirk merely smiled again when his attention was called to the fact.

John Montgomery, jr., one of the attorneys for Dwight Tredway et al., who made application for a receiver, was seen this afternoon and said:

"We made formal application this morning to have the road turned over to Mr. Thompson as receiver, but met with refusal."

"The order of the supreme court today stays any action on the part of a receiver. We will now file a motion to have the appeal set aside, and until action is taken the Missouri Pacific people will have control of the property."

Superintendent L. D. Hopkins was also seen. He stated that Mr. Thompson made a demand last evening to have the road turned over to him, and also again this morning, but had met with refusal.

Mr. Tredway was interrogated as to what he now proposed to do, and said he would first have to consult with his attorneys, but the chances were that he would return to his home in St. Louis tonight and await the action of the supreme court in the premises.

A GOOD MAN GONE.

DEATH OF JUDGE GEO. HEARD THIS MORNING.

He Dies of Pneumonia the Day After His Arrival in Washington.

THE DEMOCRAT today received a telegram from Hon. John T. Heard conveying the sad intelligence of the death of his respected father, Judge George Heard, which occurred in Washington City at 11:25 this morning.

Judge Heard arrived in Washington yesterday suffering with pneumonia, but the news of his death is the first intimation received here of his illness.

Judge Heard was one of the pioneer citizens of Pettis county and was long one of the honored members of the bar. He was born in Lancaster, Ky., in 1809 and came to Saline county, Missouri, in 1817 with his mother, his father having died some years before.

SOMETHING NEW LADIES' CONGRESS BOOTS!

Wm. Courtney's

In 1819 the family moved to Howard county, where Mr. Heard grew to manhood and was admitted to the bar.

In 1835 Mr. Heard removed to Pin Hook, this county, and afterward built the first house in Georgetown, the old county seat. Mr. Heard was prominently identified with the settlement and development of this section of Missouri, and taught the first school in Pettis county. He was known and respected by all for his upright christian character, and no man enjoyed the confidence of the community in a higher degree.

Mr. Heard was married to his first wife, whose maiden name was Amanda Gray, in 1830. From this union seven children grew to maturity. These were Sarah E. J., who married John W. Houx; Louvenia B., who married E. J. Dillon; Jesse F., Alcibiades, John T., Newton S., and George C.

Mr. Heard, having lost his first wife in 1872, was married to Miss Mollie Gilpin in 1874, who survives him.

He was in every sense of the word an honorable, upright christian gentleman, known and loved by all, and a splendid type of American manhood.

The news of his death will be received with genuine sorrow by the entire community and deep and sincere will be the sympathy extended to the family in their bereavement.

He has left to his sons and daughters the priceless treasure of an untarnished name and unblemished character, and in the dark hour of their bereavement they can know and feel that he has gone to claim the reward of a well spent life and an unflinching trust in his Redeemer.

The DEMOCRAT is not yet informed as to the arrangements for the funeral.

Official Paper of the City of Sedalia.

THE DEMOCRAT invites the closest inspection as to its circulation.

THE Sedalia Democratic club did good work in the last campaign and should be put in working order at an early day.

CANDIDATES for county offices are already looking over the field preparatory to the campaign for nominations next spring.

As much as we complain of hard times in this country, the fact remains that we are the happiest and most prosperous people on earth.

THE merchants of Sedalia are offering great inducements to call out the timid dollars from their hiding places, and daily trade is improving.

THE DEMOCRAT goes daily into nearly seventeen hundred Sedalia households. This is a suggestion that no live advertiser can afford to ignore.

It seems that the staid, sturdy and colossal old Bank of England has caught the fever of speculation and dropped a large slice of wealth in wild schemes for making money.

IN view of recent developments many Missouri democrats will feel like pardoning Scott Harrison for voting for his brother, but what could be his excuse for voting for Warner?

It is a very difficult matter to frame a protective tariff measure that does not injure some industry. A revenue tariff, however, is a tax for public purposes and as such is fair, just and reasonable.

THE state of Georgia has foreclosed a mortgage on a railroad that is not nearly paying expenses, says the Chronicle, and it will now have a first-class chance to realize the blessing of state ownership.

BRAZIL is not the only country where people are buried alive. Look at Maynard and Larry Neal. —Kansas City Journal.

But it is not fatal in this country. Just look at the republican party a year ago.

If you want to be "in the swim" in a business point of view next week, you must make your announcements in SUNDAY'S DEMOCRAT. People are looking for bargains and the DEMOCRAT is the people's favorite paper.

THE revision of the tariff is an important and serious work and will demand the best thought in congress. It should be done in a spirit of fairness, with the constant aim to make the burden of taxation as easy to bear as possible.

A MAILED hand with nothing in its grasp more annihilating than pie, says the Springfield Democrat, will never drive Missouri democrats to fishing resorts when their duty is at the polls. They are not constructed after that manner of architecture.

It seems that it was business matters, and not ill health that called President Cleveland to New York so suddenly. The president is interested in some large investments along with Secretary Lamont, W. C. Whitney and other friends, and it was to look after these matters that he went to the metropolis.

It seems, after all, that Web. Withers, the new collector of internal revenue, is not a mugwump as charged. On the other hand he is said to be a good, sound democrat who votes his party ticket. Personally there is no objection to Mr. Withers in any quarter. It is the way the appointment was made that has caused the dissatisfaction.

THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT has accepted the organship of the Missouri University football team. The DEMOCRAT properly says that winning football will advertise the University widely. At the head of the boys the DEMOCRAT will carve out a niche for athletics at Columbia.—Republic.

No organship, if you please. But the DEMOCRAT has observed the good work being done by the university boys, sees no reason why Missouri brawn and muscle may not be developed along with Missouri intellect, and believes that any young man is the better student by giving due attention to manly sports and healthful exercise. Missouri's university may hope to see the day when she will become as famous as Yale, Harvard or Princeton. But she must encourage Missouri boys.

ABOUT the time our republican friends get in a happy frame of mind from observing what they consider symptoms of dissensions in the democratic ranks, their own Chauncey I. Filley breaks out afresh and starts all the warring factions in the republican party in Missouri. At a republican club meeting in St. Louis the other night "de ole man" delivered the following rebuke of the republican mayor:

"I am sorry that Mr. Walbridge is not here, as he promised to be, for what I am going to say now I would like to say to his face. I intended to say a good word for the republican workers, for they are the men who elect. I have found, however, that I have no influence with the mayor. Five men out of my own ward have been appointed without my being asked anything about it. I did not even know their names until I saw them in the papers. We republicans have nothing to say with the present local administration. Only damnable ballot-box-stuffing democrats get appointments. That is not organization—it is a shame, and I will put a stop to it. Day and night I have listened to the complaints of the republicans, but I can do nothing for them. I speak openly and above board, for Mr. Sturgeon is here. He has too many democrats in his office, and, Mr. Sturgeon, that is not right. There are enough honest and good republicans who can fill those offices.

When I was postmaster I turned every d—d rebel out. That is civil service reform as I understand it. There is no dissension or division in the republican party here, except what is made by the present administration. Dr. Preterius and Filley fought shoulder to shoulder in the school election, and won. We are all together except for those damnable intrigues of the little mugwumps and populists of South St. Louis."

This is but the commencement of the factional strife and the men who last year "turned de ole man down" will hear from him on every occasion.

It is a sad reflection to many republicans, that just when they think they have the boss suppressed he breaks out more violent than ever.

A Fire in the Country.
The house on the Patsy Huff farm, near Syracuse, was burned to the ground Wednesday, and had it not been for the prompt arrival of a gang of section men who were at work in the vicinity, the household effects would also have gone up in smoke. The residence was occupied by Mr. Pilkington and family, who were absent when the fire broke out. The extent of the loss was not learned.

Married Twenty-Three Years.
Mr. and Mrs. Judge John N. Dalby donned their wedding garments, and, assisted by their children, celebrated the twenty-third anniversary of their marriage, last evening, at their beautiful home on East Fifth street.

An elegant supper had been prepared by Mrs. Dalby, and a pleasant evening was spent by the worthy couple in calling up incidents of their wedding night of twenty-three years ago.

Police Court.
In the police court, this morning, Tim Daley was fined $5 for intoxication. Two other prisoners were too drunk for arraignment. A stay was granted in the case of three other defendants, one of whom was Jno. Ryan, who was caught prowling around on top of Mrs. Noonan's porch, some the worse for liquor.

TIPTON AND SEDALIA.

Paragraphs From the Tipton "Times" of Local Interest.

Wilbur Jones, of Sedalia, came down and spent Sunday afternoon with his mother east of town.

Rev. Alex Allen, of the Episcopal church of Sedalia, preaches at the A. O. U. W. hall in this city next Tuesday evening.

Mr. Max Joachimi, of Versailles, was in town Tuesday, on his way to Sedalia. As one of the stockholders in the narrow gauge road running out of Sedalia, Mr. Joachimi scored quite a victory over the Gould syndicate in recovering control of that property. He expresses sanguine hopes that the road will be made a standard gauge.

It is with extreme pleasure we observe that Mr. Joe X. Wright has become owner of the Dixon Echo. Joe was a resident of this city some months and has many friends here who will be pleased at the progress he is making. Joe is a thoroughly competent newspaper man and we congratulate the people of Dixon at having so competent a man locate with them. Our best wishes attend the Echo and its editor.

STOLEN CATTLE.

A Consignment Which Came to St. Louis Leads to Murder.

The sale of two car loads of stolen cattle in St. Louis has been the cause of the murder of a sheriff in Kansas, and the unearthing of an organized gang of horse and cattle thieves, says yesterday's Post-Dispatch.

On Oct. 26 two car loads of cattle arrived at the St. Louis stock yards, consigned to C. M. Keys & Co. and shipped in the name of Frank Johnson. Johnson came with the cattle and sold them for $1,365. He received $100 down and the rest was subject to his draft. He drew in due time, but it was learned that upon trying to sell the cattle in Wichita, Kan., he would not guarantee they were not stolen. The money was garnished and tied up in the Winfield (Kan.) bank. Johnson turned out to be Frank Boydson, the leader of a gang of cattle and horse thieves who have been raiding Southern Kansas.

A few days ago Deputy Sheriff Jesse Henderson and Paul Jones went after Boydson and Charles Neal, near Pond Creek, O. T., and in the attempt to arrest the two men Henderson was killed. A troop of cavalry is now on the trail of the murderers. The stolen cattle sold here belonged to John Moffet, of Harper, Kan.

AN ELOPEMENT.

A Missouri Pacific Brakeman Wins a Bride.

An elopement furnished the good people of Syracuse with quite a sensation a couple of nights ago, as the DEMOCRAT learns from a gentleman who resides in the village.

The parties to the affair were W. E. Murphy, a popular brakeman for Conductor Porter Wells, on the middle division of the Missouri Pacific, and Miss Hutchinson, the accomplished daughter of T. G. Hutchinson, a well-to-do farmer.

There was parental objection on the young lady's side, it is said, but love laughs at locksmiths, and when Will drove up to the gate in a buggy Miss Hutchinson made her escape by the window route and lost no time in joining her lover.

The happy young people drove hastily to the Baptist church, where they were joined in wedlock by the pastor, and the DEMOCRAT hopes that all will end well.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.—By virtue of the terms and provisions of three certain chattel mortgages executed by John S. Banks, the first one of the chattel mortgages dated March 2nd, 1893, and recorded in chattel mortgage record O, page 337, and the second one dated April 27th, 1893, and recorded in said book O, page 482, and the third and last of said mortgages dated April 28th, 1893, and recorded in said book O, page 484, in the recorder's office of Pettis county, Missouri, and for the purpose of paying the notes, debts, obligations and liabilities therein recited, secured and described. I will on Wednesday, the 22nd, and Thursday, the 23rd day of November, 1893, on the farm of John S. Banks, north of Sedalia, on the Georgetown road, expose and sell at public auction for cash, the following personal property described in said three chattel mortgages.

One iron gray jack; 45 head of mares from 3 to 12 years old; 12 head of horses three years old; 15 colts two years old; 10 mule colts 1 year old; 22 colts 1 year old; 1 pair of mare mules three years old; 7 two-year-old mules; 2 old mules; 9 head of horse and mare mules; 20 colts foaled in spring of 1893; 5 head of horses; 35 head of hogs; 19 head of cows; 1 Galloway bull; 10 Jersey milk cows; 3 two-horse wagons; 1 feed wagon; 1 wheat drill; 2 tongueless cultivators; 12 sets of double harness; 1 Deering mower; 4 three-horse breaking plows; 2 two-horse breaking plows; 2 harrows.

GENTRY'S HORSES.

WHAT L. E. CLEMENT SAYS OF THEM.

HAS SOME WORLD BEATERS

A Field of Thoroughbreds That Have Won the Admiration of the World.

Pettis county horses are thus referred to by L. E. Clement in today's issue of Coleman's Rural World, of St. Louis:

Since my last letter I have seen Bertie R., the fastest trotting mare by record yet bred in Missouri. She is now quietly running out at the Gentry place, with the whole orchard to herself. I have for the first time seen the great young horse, John R. Gentry, and his full brother, Theo. Shelton, and I never saw two brothers less alike.

John R. Gentry is a typical Ashland Wilkes, while Theo. is an out and out Belmont, being taller, more rangy; the long straight tips and white brush in his tail are all Belmont marks. The success in pacing races for colts of their respective ages is wonderful, and Jim Ramey is confident the 2-year-old that beats him will hold the 2-year-old record.

I have seen also Laura T., the fastest pacing mare yet bred in Missouri. I saw her turned out in a paddock, and while they say she seldom or never trots in harness, her exercise in the lot was taken at the trot, and one might have heard her snort a quarter of a mile away. Laura T. wears her honors lightly and will be one of the contestants for the world's pacing record next season.

At the Gentry farm I saw a full sister to Grant's Abdallah, that marked the Springfield, Mass., track with a mark of 2:10 1/2, which I think has only been equaled by Hal Pointer and beaten by nothing. This filly is very much like her great brother, but I would judge now that she would be larger when matured than he is.

Seeing the filly I thought I would like to see Abdallah, so I went out and found that Abdallah, Walter E. and Aunt Delilah were just getting fairly rested after a more than successful campaign. Aunt Delilah and Abdallah I had seen before, but the wonderful bay gelding that holds the gelding record I had never seen.

Although Frank Grigsby had told me his dam was a pony built mare of strong Morgan characteristics, I was not prepared to see so strong a built horse as Walter E. is. He must have got much from his mother, for his sire is almost a black, and shows the thoroughbred in his make up, while Walter E. is almost Frenchy in his appearance.

I thought when Grigsby bought his dam I would have a chance to see her, and I would have had her lived.

It is almost safe to look up the M. D.'s in any place if you want to find the trotting horsemen. At Lamonte I found one of them that drives a pacing team, a range horse and an inbred Hiatoga that would easily learn to pole better than a three minute slip. I found that he had a black Monitor filly in the hands of popular trainers, Gibson & Adams, and we went out to see her. Ten days ago they put her to pacing and are still working her in hoppers, and are beginning to think they have another "Cassie."

From all sides at Sedalia I heard at least surmises that the entries to stakes, a fund held in trust, were used to pay notes given for former losses. If such be the case the parties who thus perverted these funds for such a purpose should be prosecuted to the extent of the law and it would have a good effect on others who might be looking for an easy way to pay off indebtedness already incurred.

DIAMOND CUT DIAMOND.

Denver Gamblers Prove Too Much for the Chicago Fraternity.

Two Denver gamblers, known as "Red Spot Fred" and James Wheaton, have, it is said, fleeced Chicago gamblers out of $8,000 or $10,000 this summer by a clever scheme.

Wheaton acted as a faro dealer for a Chicago gambling firm. He and his partner, with the aid of a $20 bill with a $1 note pasted on one side of it, are said to have coined money. "Red Spot" would buy chips with the double bill, the $20 side being displayed when passed in. The same bill would be handed back by Wheaton with the $1 side displayed, when Fred cashed in.

By this method the two men would be ahead just $20 every time the bill circulated. The scheme is said to have been exposed by a Chicago sport in whom Wheaton confided. Neither of the alleged Denver schemers were arrested.

Notice to Merchants.

The merchants' tax book for 1893 is now completed and placed in my hands for collection. Merchants' taxes are unlike personal or real estate taxes, from the fact that the law presumes they will be collected when due, and, consequently I am not permitted to return merchants' taxes delinquent in my annual settlement with the county court; therefore must collect them.

Pay your merchants' taxes now and avoid heavy penalties.

REAL LIFE ROMANCE.

A Couple Engaged Forty Years Ago Married Yesterday.

CHILLICOTHE, Mo., Nov. 17.—Spencer Gibbons, aged 61, and Mrs. Penacy Matthews, aged 57, were married in this city by Justice Barclay. The parties were both born in this county, their parents being among the first settlers. Forty years ago they were engaged to be married, but the lovers had a quarrel and Mr. Gibbons went to California, where he remained for 15 years. Returning and finding the lady married, he concluded to marry himself. About a year ago both lost their companions and the love of olden times was rekindled with a happy ending yesterday. They are among our best people, and the bride's parents were the first couple married in this county.

Overdose of Morphine.

Julius Luther, aged 35, a well-known citizen of Nevada, died at 6:30 yesterday morning from an overdose of morphine, which he had administered. No cause is known.

WHAT HE SAW

HE dreamed he saw something, and he looked and behold the world was full of cemeteries full of tombstones and monuments. And there were inscriptions on them, and whole cemeteries full of "written tears to the departed" were hung high in the air by great monstrous poles with monstrous hooks with long bars on them. And on the poles were secret signs that an angel translated "fishing for suckers." And he read the memorials on the stones and they all begun: "Here Lies." And one read, "To a once merry crew of old-style, misfit, bad-shaped, off-colored suits that roved the ancient seas from ten to fifteen years ago, now going at 50 cents on the dollar." And the stone seemed to smile and the pole bobbed a little.

Another read, "Departed this life in the 80s 1000 overcoats who got their necks broke in a race with new styles, new cuts, new materials." Beneath was a P. S. that read, "If thou takest me to thy bosom thou wilt be an Exodus." And the pole bobbed a little more. Off in a corner was a bent-over stone and on it was, "Here be Old Hats," with an ancient crown cut in the stone, and the P. S. read, "The shades of unfashionable life abide in him who do buy such." And the pole bobbed a good bob. And it was so on all the stones about old goods. And he then saw in his dream the wrecks of many 1000's of ancient style houses. He shivered. He got cold. He got colder. Had the buck ager. He saw the pole a bobbing. The stones begun to knock their heads together, and he waked up to find himself shaped up and genteelly fixed out in natty fall styles of 1893, and on his suit, overcoat, hat and underwear was the sign BLAIRS'. And he was much tickled, and he told all his tribe how near he come to getting jabbed with a hook that was on the pole and "to always go to BLAIRS." And they do to this day say go to

HIGHEST HONORS AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

The following is a verbatim copy of the text of the Diplomas on KIMBALL PIANOS.

"This exhibit deserves an award for:
FIRST—The tone quality, which is full, round, sympathetic and musical.
SECOND—The duration and singing quality of the tone is remarkable.
THIRD—The scale is even and free from breaks.
FOURTH—The action is first-class in every respect.
FIFTH—The touch is easy, elastic and prompt in response, admitting of the most rapid repetition.
SIXTH—Materials and construction give evidence of extreme care in their selection and workmanship and are all of the highest class. The designs of the cases are of great artistic excellence and are finished in the most perfect manner."

On KIMBALL REED ORGANS.

"The Organs exhibited were not expressly made for exhibition purposes, but are part of the regular wareroom stock.
They are distinguished for the superior construction, high grade quality of material employed, originality, and first-class finish. Their tone, touch and action leave nothing to be desired.
The points of particular excellence are as follows:—
FIRST—A tracker guide rail, enclosing each tracker pin separately, and by being reamed from the opposite side of the socket-board, excluding all dirt and dust from the valves and preventing sticking.
SECOND—A roller bar so constructed as to prevent the cutting of the treadle straps.
THIRD—An easily detachable organ lid.
FOURTH—An original device, by which six sets of reeds are placed over one valve without diminishing the simplicity or desirability of the Organ as compared with ordinary two set organs.
FIFTH—A graduated sounding-board with raised valve seat, giving a power and quality rarely obtained in reed organs.
SIXTH—An automatic swell operated by the opening or closing of the lid.
SEVENTH—A sub bass, by use of which larger scale reeds are employed in a regular key board scale, thus giving the power of a heavy sub bass without using the regular sub bass action.
EIGHTH—Ample bellows capacity and unusual ease of "blowing."
All improvements protected by United States Letters patent."

On KIMBALL PORTABLE ORGANS.

"For superior artistic qualities, for extraordinary solidity and reliability of the mechanism, for perfect workmanship, for progress as shown in the originality of construction and arrangement, by which it is possible to box and transport the organ to any part of the country, tuned ready for use, and requiring no expert to set it up on delivery. The original devices consist of:
FIRST—A detachable key board, permitting the organ to pass through any ordinary door way.
SECOND—A pipe clutch and rack, holding the pipes firmly against displacement during transportation.
THIRD—A pedal action so constructed that the pedal key board can be removed for shipment, without discounting any part of the action.
FOURTH—A blow lever applicable at either end of the organ.
FIFTH—A wind chest with two wind pressures, a tubular pneumatic action, insuring the quickest repetition known, and incapable of clogging.
SIXTH—A bellows, the heavy pressure bellows inside the lighter, rendering the tone of the organ unusually firm and steady.
SEVENTH—A pneumatic draw-stop action. The touch, tone and action are in every respect commendable.
The Organ is impervious to atmospheric changes and practically dust and vermin proof. It is protected by twelve United States Letters Patent. The organ displayed represents ordinary samples of the firm's manufacture. The article admirably fulfills the requirements of a first class portable Pipe Organ and marks a decided advance in the art. It meets a long felt want and is entitled to the highest award."

TRAVEL OF TRAMPS.

HOW THEY GET OVER THE COUNTRY.

ILLINOIS A GOOD STATE.

The Illinois Central is the Best Road in the Country to Get Over.

The November Century contains a unique article entitled "Tramping with Tramps," being a record of the actual adventures of a young American who disguised himself as a tramp and took to the road. The following is an extract from the article:

Of the states in the western district, I think that Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Colorado, Washington and a part of California are the best for tramps. Illinois is thought especially well of by vagabonds because of its "good" railroads. The Illinois Central, for instance, is known the country over as the best for a journey south, and I have known tramps to travel from New York City to Chicago and go south by this line rather than start from New York direct for New Orleans.

The "C., B. & Q." is also a great "snap" in fact, so much so that, when I was on the road it was called "the bump" line. In Nebraska, where the "Q." becomes "B. & M. R.," the lines are more tightly drawn, and it behooves a roadster to take to the trucks if he is anxious to make good time.

Truck-riding is necessary almost everywhere west of the Mississippi. Of course one can "fool around" freight trains, but is liable to be knocked off when the train is at full speed, and unless this occurs on the desert, or where the ground is rather soft, it may prove dangerous.

I once attempted to ride a "freight" on the Southern Pacific road, and it was the hardest experience I ever encountered. I hung on to the side of a cattle car to keep out of the brakeman's way, but he eventually found me, and ordered me to get up on top. There I was made to turn my pockets inside out to convince him that I had no money. Being angered that I could not give him a dime, he said: "Well, hit the gravel! I can't carry you on this train."

I told him that I would never hit the gravel unless he stopped the train. "You won't, eh?" he said, "well, now, we'll see." So he chased me over his train for about fifteen minutes. I dodged here and there, and found that I was quite able to elude him as long as he alone followed me; but soon the "con" appeared and then the chase began in earnest. They finally pressed me so near that I was compelled to climb down the side of a cattle car. They then tantalized me by spitting and swearing. Finally the "con" climbed down also, and stepped on my fingers, so I had to let go.

Fortunately the train was slackening its speed just then—I really think the engineer had a hand in the matter, for he is usually a good fellow—and I got off safely enough. But I had to "drill" twenty miles that afternoon without a bite to eat or a drink of water. In the far west after that experience I always made use of the trucks.

The usual time for eastern and western tramps to start south is in October. During this month large squads of vagabonds will be found traveling towards "Orleans." I once was on an Illinois Central freight-train when seventy-three tramps were fellow passengers, and nearly every one was bound for either Florida or Louisiana.

San Francisco and Denver are the main dependence of tramps in the west. If one meets a westward bound beggar beyond the Mississippi he may usually infer that the man is on his way to Denver; and if he is found on the other side of that city, and still westward bound, his destination is almost sure to be "Frisco," or at least Salt Lake city, which is also a popular "hangout."

Denver has a rather difficult task to perform, for the city is really a junction from which tramps start in various directions and, consequently, the people have more than their share of beggars to feed. I have met in this city, at one time, as many as 150 bona fide tramps, and every one had been in town for over a week. The people, however, do not seem to feel the burden of this riff-raff addition to the population; at any rate, they befriend it most kindly. They seem especially willing to give money.

I once knew a kid, or "prushun," who averaged in Denver nearly $3 a day for almost a week, by standing in front of shops and "battering" the ladies as they passed in and out. He was a handsome child, and this, of course, must be taken into consideration, for his success was really phenomenal.

Rather Than Face Disgrace.

St. JOSEPH, Mo., November 16. —Edward Burke, a well known young man, died suddenly at the residence of his step-father, 2404 Charles street, last night, under circumstances indicating suicide. He reached the home apparently in good health, drank a cup of coffee, fell back in his chair, and when his mother went to his assistance, said, "Don't touch me, I'm dying." A few minutes later he was a corpse. It transpired later that Burke had passed several worthless checks for small amounts, and at the time of his death the police had instructions to arrest him. Before their search began word was received that he was dead. He was 26 years of age and single.

HELD UP FOR ONE DOLLAR.

Highwaymen Near Blackwell, Ok., Rob a Teamster.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kas., Nov. 16. —The Dalton gang has been heard from again, and it appears that they are getting to be common highwaymen. Last evening E. Higginbotham arrived in the city from Blackwell, a town twenty three miles southwest of this city in the Cherokee strip. Mr. Higginbotham has been engaged in hauling lumber from this city to Blackwell for Charles M. Hunt. While he was returning to this city this morning he met two men who halted him and pulled their Winchester down on him and demanded his money. Higginbotham told them $2 was all he had, and the highwaymen took $1 with the remark: "There is nothing small about me; you can keep the other dollar." The men rode away then. Higginbotham recognized them as Bill Dolan and Dinamite, two of the Dalton gang.

"You see," he explained, as he showed her the wish bone; "you take hold here. Then we must both make a wish and pull, and when it breaks the one who has the bigger part of it will have his or her wish gratified."

"But I don't know what to wish for," she protested.

"Oh, you can think of something," he said.

"No, I can't," she replied; "I can't think of anything I want very much."

"Well, I'll wish for you," he exclaimed.

"Will you, really?" she asked.

"Yes."

BATHS OF DIVERSE

Kindness Discussed and Their Merits Compared by an Eminent Novelist.

Mr. Walter Besant seems to know a little about everything, and a great deal about some things, says the New York Sun.

His last excursion, in the way of opinions and advice, is to the bath. Just what he means by the prescription which, he says, has never before been published, it is not easy to tell. It may be an English joke. No other explanation quite reaches that part of his remarks, but the rest is both interesting and intelligible.

"There is talk," he says, "about a new fashion of flower baths. It is not exactly a new fashion, because baths of herbs, baths of crushed fruit, baths of flowers, baths of leaves, baths of powdered roots, have been in use from time immemorial among ladies who wish to preserve their beauty. There were also, at one time—but these are gone out of favor—baths of earth. Fancy lying up to your neck in garden mold, with a few worms, centipedes and such things squirming about your ribs! Then there are the sun baths. At a certain place—perhaps there are a dozen—in Switzerland and Germany, the patients lie in little rooms with glass roofs, enjoying the warmth of the sun. After an ordinary English summer, I dare say a sun bath would prove efficacious in every kind of disease that can be imagined. And there is something poetical in a bath of crushed fruit—one of crushed raspberries, for instance, should impart a delicate pinkness to the skin; but, after all, the fruit would be more useful for the promotion of health in a currant and raspberry pie—pie, please, not tart. A bath of violets would make one go about for an hour or so, suggesting the immediate neighborhood of a penny bunch of violets, but perhaps the flowers would be more lastingly useful in a vase.

"And when all is told, I am quite certain the finest bath in the world is one of water either hot or cold, and I always recommended, as a physician, hitherto unlicensed and uncalled, all my patients to take a cold bath every morning in summer, and a tepid bath every morning in winter, and a hot bath whenever one has got a cold or feels low. It suffices the cheeks with a delicate bloom like that of the common or garden peach. It brightens the eyes and clears the complexion, and keeps the loveliest woman young till she gets old. As for the flowers, here is a prescription never before published. A bunch of jonquils in early spring, or of roses in summer, placed near the bath will be found to have a marvelous effect in beautifying the complexion.

The Treacherous Bicycle.

The Chicago Record tells of a girl who was seized with the bicycle mania. About a month ago she invested her savings in a bicycle. Every morning she disappeared for several hours and returned home with bandaged fingers, torn skirts, a banged-in hat, a sour temper and a painful limp. The other day she invited the family to assemble at a certain riding school to see her perform. She nimbly mounted, spun around the hall twice, jumped off and on with the agility of a young kitten, and excited the admiration of the whole crowd. Then some officious person said: "Go around the other way." She had always practiced in the one direction, but such a trifle did not worry her, so she wheeled around and rode off like a runaway cable-car. When she arrived at the first turn there was a terrible crash, a shriek, a resounding crack made by her head coming in contact with the floor, and then all was still. The family had her taken home in an ambulance, and she has already made arrangements to have the machine patched up and sold at half-price.

Irreverence in the Quaker City.

An uptown church has recently undergone great alterations, and during the course of the work a great lot of old wood was accumulated which was perfectly good for kindling purposes but was not of much account for anything else. The superintendent of the building, thinking to have the wood removed at the least possible cost, started about to dispose of it by sale. Accordingly, picking out a nice, smooth board, he inscribed it as follows: "Wood for sale by the load." The board had been exposed only a short time when some wag saw the chance for a good joke and changed the letter "a" in the word "load" to an "r," and for days the sign stood out in front of the church reading: "Wood for sale by the Lord."—Philadelphia Record.

Had a Place for Him.

A very respectable looking person called at a boarding house uptown the other morning and was received by the landlady.

"Do you want a good, sober, steady, industrious man to work for his board?" he inquired politely.

"Yes, I do," she answered sharply. "Are you that kind?"

"Well, madam, I am."

"Yes, I've got a regular job for you."

"May I ask what it is, madam?"

"The work isn't hard, but it will keep you busy all the time."

"Yes, madam, but what is it?"

"Acting as an example to my husband," she snapped, and he went away.—Detroit Free Press.

NEWS OF THE RAIL.

TRAINS WILL NOT BE RUN AT A LOSS.

THE MO. PACIFIC SAYS SO.

Items of Interest Picked Up For the Benefit of Readers of the "Democrat."

The Missouri Pacific Railroad company recently took off the passenger train running between Topeka and Fort Scott and substituted a slow mixed train.

The Kansas railroad commissioners have ordered the train restored. The company refuses to comply and will fight it out in the courts.

The Burlington, Rock Island and Santa Fe companies all applaud the Missouri Pacific's stand, and if it is sustained by the courts will pursue the same policy in respect to trains that are run at a loss.

A suit for $20,000. A sensational suit for $20,000 damages will be called at the January term of the Montgomery county, Illinois, circuit court, in which William Porterfield of Honey Bend is the plaintiff and the Wabash railway company is the defendant.

The ground upon which the action is brought is the ejectionment by Conductor Sears of the plaintiff from a passenger train between Honey Bend and Litchfield, Ill. Porterfield, who is a section hand at Honey Bend, offered Conductor Sears a "detached" ticket, which Porterfield claims was detached by Sears on a previous train. Sears refused to accept it. Porterfield said he would have to accept it or put him off. Sears pulled the bell rope and as things began to look serious for Porterfield, he made a tender of his fare in cash, which Sears refused, saying that since he had pulled the bell rope Porterfield would have to get off the train.

Porterfield pleaded hard, saying his wife lay dangerously ill at Litchfield and that he must get to her without delay. He offered his fare in cash several times, but Sears pushed him off. He climbed on the rear end of the last coach and again offered his fare, but Sears put him off. This is the plaintiff's story. He has retained two good attorneys and begun work in earnest.

A man who is in a situation to speak from the card says that the Pennsylvania Railroad company burns over 12,000 tons of coal a day between Pittsburgh and Jersey City at a cost of considerably over $40,000. TALK WITH CORBETT.

The Champion Will Start for Jacksonville Next Week.

Jim Corbett came to town this afternoon, says a New York dispatch of yesterday, from Asbury park, in company with his younger brother, Joe, and Porter Ashe, the well known California horseman. Corbett went at once to the Hotel Vendome. He will probably stay in the city a week. A Globe-Democrat reporter met the champion at the Coleman house later in the afternoon and had a long talk with him.

"I'm tickled to death that I will soon have the opportunity of meeting Mitchell," said Jim. "Do I think he'll be on hand and face me? Yes, in one way I do, because if he does not it will be worse than a licking, for the public will be unmerciful toward him if he fails to fight. But I know I'll whip him, and that is one consolation.

"I shall stop training at Asbury Park as soon as possible, for it is too cold to do any work down there these days. I shall very likely start for Jacksonville next week, and expect to reach there about December 4. I have had numerous offers to show on the way, but I will only accept a few one-night stands, because I do not want to fatigue myself to any great extent. I weigh now about 197 pounds."

Porter Ashe has been with Corbett for several weeks past. He trained with the champion, and has reduced himself several pounds. Corbett says that Tim McVey, Billy Delancy and Prof. John Donaldson, his sparring partner, will be his chief trainers.

FEET HAVEN'T CHANGED.

Comparison With Greek Casts Shows no Ill Effects From Modern Footwear.

A study of feet and toes in the casts of the museum is uncommonly interesting and instructive. The Greek statuary, much of it dated centuries before Christ, seems to prove that the Greeks had feet much like the modern New Yorkers. The most beautiful of the Greek feet are hollowed out well, both inside and out. They have short heels, high insteps and long, straight toes, slightly spatulated at the ends. This is the type of the most beautiful modern foot. It is, on the whole, a foot not frequently seen in its perfection, for often one or the other element of beauty is wanting, says the New York Sun. The rarest point of beauty is the hollowing of the outside of the foot. It used to be that the shoe makers' lasts were made upon Greek principles, but for several years lastmakers have been making a hump on the outside of the last just above the point where the slight hollow should be. If anyone would convince himself that the hollow on the outside of the foot is rare, let him watch the prints that seaside bathers leave when they step on a dry plank walk. Most of such footprints show a greater or smaller hollow on the inside of the foot, but nearly every one shows a straight wet mark on the outside.

The sandaled feet of the Greek goddesses in marble are much like the feet of the modern women—at any rate, of the modern infant before the feet have been modified by leather shoes. All the goddesses have the fifth toe much smaller than the others, and in every instance this shows the snail-like twist so often ascribed to the modern-pointed shoes. The ancient statuary to be seen in New York, chiefly in casts, whether of male or female figures, shows often that contraction of the toes at the joints usually ascribed to the wearing of short shoes. Even the casts of ancient statues of athletes show this peculiarity. A few mummified feet are very modern in form, though they usually show the effects of the tight bandages wound about the corpse.

Many paintings and statues of several Italian periods tell the same story as to the similarity of human feet, ancient and modern. Such natural decorations as have been preserved from the walls of Pompeii show that the models of Pompeian artists had modern feet. The child Jesus is pictured in many Italian pictures of 300, 400 and 500 years ago as having the feet of modern infants. The same thing is true of the feet in carvings, reliefs and the like belonging to all ages.

Not only does art give small encouragement to the idea that pedal deformities produced by footwear have become hereditary, but the modern infant bears testimony to the contrary. Perhaps the feet of women suffer more than those of men from injudicious footwear, but infants seem to inherit not the peculiarities of their mothers, but only the structural form. The fact is that the infant foot is a most delightful little member, and its plump, ball-like elongations on the under side of the toes, the spatulate end of the latter and other peculiarities sometimes ascribed to the modern shoe are older than the Christian era.

A Leaning Toward the Drama. It came to pass that a certain man had a son and daughter, as sometimes happened in those days. In the fullness of time the youth and the maiden evinced a wish to become histrionic artists. Coming then before the old man they asked his advice.

"Pa," they said, "how shall we proceed to get engagements as leading gentleman and lady, respectively?" The father gazed upon them fondly, and his face lighted with a benignant smile.

"My children," he rejoined, "a long course of preparation is necessary. You, my daughter—"

He turned to the radiant maiden. "—must marry, unhappily; and you, my son—"

His eye rested proudly upon the youth. "—will have to issue challenges through the newspapers to all the pugilists of your class."

In this day and generation the old man was considered to know his business, just about—Detroit Tribune.

Electricity in Farm Work. An interesting example of electricity as applied to farm work is now in operation at a Scotch farm. The whole of the usual farm machinery, such as threshing, sowing, corn threshing and the like, are here driven by an electric motor. The electricity is generated by water power, the turbine wheel which drives the dynamo being about 1,000 yards from the farm. The electric current is conveyed by underground wires to the house and barn, in each of which a storage battery is placed. These supply the electric current for lighting and motive purposes when the machinery is not working. The whole of the mansion is illuminated by electric light, and an electric motor is provided for pumping the water for domestic purposes.

Horseshoes Payable as Rent. The sheriffs of London annually pay into the British exchequer six horseshoes with the proper number of nails as rent for a piece of ground in the parish of St. Clements. In 1234 this lot was rented from the crown by a blacksmith to build a shop on, and afterward the property came into the hands of the city corporation at the same rental. The horseshoes and nails have been annually paid ever since the date mentioned.

Lil McNair's Persecutors.

Judge Morris, in the First district police court, yesterday fined Winnie and Lillie Scott, mother and daughter, $50 each for persecuting Mr. Lilburn McNair, the well-known society man. Dr. Warren G. The girl on the witness stand stated that the man she had been sending love letters to for the past year was not the one she knew as Lil McNair.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.
